Message from Mrs Money

With only a week to go until half term I am sure that parents, staff and children alike are all ready for a rest. For those of you at home juggling remote learning and your own work, the days and weeks may feel endless and overwhelming. You are doing an incredible job! I am really hopeful that school reopening is still planned for 8th March however I suspect that I will receive confirmation of this at the same time as all of you! I cannot wait for all of the Sandringham family to be back together again, and this date can't come soon enough.

A quick reminder for families learning at home that we still have some free WiFi codes, SIM cards and a few laptops available if these will help. We also have some stationery donated from Martins so please let us know if you need to replenish anything to help with learning from home too. Thank you to remote learning families who have completed the survey sent last week. It closes tonight so please give us some feedback if you can using the link below:

Due to the lack of clarity surrounding the end of lockdown and a confirmed school reopening date please note the change in our February INSET day. This has been rescheduled to Monday 22nd March. Once I have a full opening date confirmed I will be able to send you any diary dates for next half term. World Book Day is due to be on the Thursday 4th March but we would really like to celebrate this all together so plan to postpone this to Thursday 11th March. Staff and children are all invited to dress up as a character from their favourite book.

The core value for this half term is responsibility and the children both in and out of school have been sharing what they are responsible for. This ranges from caring for fish, cats and dogs, emptying the dishwasher, tidying bedrooms and looking after younger brothers and sisters. Please help to promote the children's understanding and independence by encouraging them to be responsible for something at home and praising their efforts and contributions. Next week we will be focussing on how we can be responsible for looking after our wider environment.

On Monday I will be writing to all of the children with a special half term challenge based around love. Wishing you all a safe and relaxing weekend.

PLEASE REMEMBER

INSET DAY DATE CHANGE
